								Guidance released by the Inclusive Mobility and Transport Advisory Committee (IMTAC) in late 2022 raised concerns regarding colourful crossings, indicating that they may pose hazards for some disabled individuals and older people. Their recommendations include:
								Halting any current or future plans for the installation of colourful crossings and removing existing ones.
								• Developing guidance on the inclusive use of street art in public spaces, with involvement from Deaf people, disabled people, and older individuals in the design process.
								Ensuring that all future street art schemes undergo equality impact screening.
		Pridestrian Animation						In 2023, Officers engaged with Pride and external partners and developed a proposal for a piece of temporary public art for the 2024 Pride event. The cost was deemed prohibitive and unfeasible. In 2024, Belfast City Council made significant contributions to support the LGBTQ+ community and the Pride event including:
								An allocation of £50,000 in development funding to Belfast Pride.
								The installation of an LGBT stained-glass window in City Hall as a symbol of solidarity.
