

Many thanks for your swift reply and I hope you are keeping well too.

I have reviewed the report from last year and it is broadly representative of this year's circumstances, as the annual event format remains the same every year.

In relation to the particulars of the event proposed last year, the following assertions still apply to this year's showcase, which is currently scheduled to take place in Cineworld on Thursday 26th November 2026:

- No films will have received classification from BBFC or equivalent body
- Films to be broadcast are 'the top three films in six competitive categories'; the unclassified films will therefore have been viewed by the supervising teacher at the school in which the pupil attended, and, the examination board which assessed the submission prior to grading for the purposes of GCSE / A Level award
- With the assumption that schools have viewed the exhibitions to be broadcast, schools or CCEA will therefore be in a position to provide the Service written confirmation, for example, that films have been viewed and would be considered to fall within the BBFC classification description of a 12a rated film;
 - British Board of Film Classification – 12a rating link BBFC | BBFC
- Children who will be in attendance at the exhibitions will be accompanied by teachers, who fulfill the requirement for a supervising adult to be present, as detailed by the BBFC description

I can now confirm that following our judging process, the final showcase films have been selected and confirmed by the judging panel.

As was the case last year, we do not foresee any issues with appropriateness of content and would regard all films selected as representative of a 12A BBFC rating.

I can also confirm again that the youngest students in attendance are generally in Year 12 (not 11). This means that they would most likely fall into the 15/16 age bracket in any case.

All students will be under the supervision of their teachers when attending (they all tend to arrive in larger school groups) and in the case of some students, their parents will also attend in person.

Please let me know if you need any more information from me to progress this further and thanks again for your support with this matter.

Kind Regards
