3.0	Main report
	Key Issues 3.1 The Waste Education and Promotion’s ‘Un-EAT-en’ is a recipe book full of ideas to minimise food waste using recipes submitted by chefs from the top restaurants in Belfast. 3.2 The stylishly designed book not only gives instruction on how to make amazing meals but shows how to store and preserve food correctly, advise on portion control and signpost the reader to further information. 3.3 All of the recipes featured minimise food waste doing this in a variety of ways including; how to use all of a roast chicken, use up leftovers, make best use of the reduced aisle in a supermarket, or how to use up off-cuts that usually end up in the bin. 3.4 The publication was behind cost effective campaign (£3k) and the first of its kind produced by a Council, which is partly why it has caught the attention of the National Recycling Awards shortlisting committee. Un-EAT-en destigmatises the concept of food waste and shows how it can be used to create attractive aspirational food. It also makes use of Belfast’s recent award of top UK Food Destination to steer conversations towards minimising food waste. 3.5 Moving away from negative connotations, the aim is to rebrand food waste as a resource that could be used to create exciting, attractive, aspirational dishes, rather than ending up in landfill. 3.6 After the launch of the “No Food Waste” in the Black Bin Campaign in 2017, which significantly increased the amount of food waste diverted from landfill, in 2018 Belfast was named as UK Food Destination of the year. These events acted as a trigger for the Unit to build on this momentum and produce a guide to build on the public’s enthusiasm and optimism about local food, subtly moving the conversation on to sustainability but in a different manner. 3.7 Following a submission to the National Recycling Awards, they have recognised Belfast’s innovation and creativity, shortlisted the project for Best Campaign under £10K. Late last week, the Council was invited to the live judging event on the afternoon of 27th June to present its project and make the case for why it should win. Financial &amp; Resource Implications 3.8 Total cost of travel and subsistence should be less than £750 per person and can be met from existing Service in year budget. Equality or Good Relations Implications/Rural Needs Assessment 3.9 N/A
